PROGRAMME STRUCTURE

- The DBA programme runs for three years over six semesters.
- The first year is dedicated exclusively to coursework. The second year is dedicated to coursework and research, while the third year is dedicated solely to research.
- The coursework is delivered in a blended fashion, combining the benefits of in-person sessions with the flexibility of online content delivery. It is designed to accommodate the typical busy executive's schedule.
- The classroom sessions are set up in an in-person format on a modular schedule. Each module requires students to be physically present in school for one week every two months to participate in lectures, seminars, and other activities.
- The classroom sessions run from Monday through Saturday. In total, there are a total of 12 weeks of classroom sessions.

ABOUT LAGOS BUSINESS SCHOOL

Lagos Business School (LBS) is the graduate business school of Pan-Atlantic University, owned by the Pan-Atlantic University Foundation (PAUF), a non-profit foundation registered in Nigeria. LBS was founded on inspiration from the teachings of St. Josemaria Escrivá, the founder of Opus Dei.

LBS offers academic programmes, executive programmes, and short courses (customised to specific company needs and open-enrolment courses) in management. Its offerings have been accredited globally and ranked among the best in Africa, as it systematically strives to improve the practice of management on the continent. Several world-class accreditations and rankings have recognised the business school's efforts. Besides the quality bar set at world standards, LBS programmes also stand out because of the emphasis on professional ethics and service to the community.

Education at LBS is comprehensive, drawing on the experiences of a multinational faculty and participants. Learning is participant-centred and uses the case study method. Activities are held on the school's purpose-built facilities, which serve more than 3,000 participants yearly from indigenous and multinational companies. These attest to the expert teaching, the relevance of the programmes and the overall benefits derived from attending.

LBS has a robust alumni association with more than 8,000 members. This asset base, as well as the close relationship with the corporate world, ensures that the programmes offered, as well as having international standards, also have local relevance.

Learning at LBS is based on a Christian conception of society, economic activity, and the dignity of the human person. The Prelature of Opus Dei provides the spiritual and pastoral means necessary for the School to sustain and develop its Christian identity. The function of the Prelature in LBS consists of its Christian vivification through the appropriate means of doctrinal and spiritual guidance and formation, as well as adequate pastoral assistance so that the teaching, publishing, and research activities in LBS are inspired by the Christian view of the person, the world and society, and seek a coherent union between faith, thought and life.
